The sight of these troops, and the rumors we have heard for the past few days of the movement of Union soldiers to the field, has filled us with astonishment at the apparently inexhaustible resources of the great free North. GENERAL HOSPITAL, No. 1. ) EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 21, 1862.

EDITORS JOURNAL :- Having been an in mate of this hospital for a short time, I feel under obligation to make a few complimentary remarks, through your journal, in behalf of the benevolent ladies of Evansville. They are certainly entitled to great praise for their unceasing devotion to the comfort of the sick and wounded in the hospitals. The nurses at the hospitals (the most of whom are invalid soldiers) are laboring under great inconveniences, in consequence of having lost so much sleep. In many instances one nurse has under his immediate care from fifteen to twenty wounded men, without any assistance during the night. During the day the ladies (God bless them,) are present, with smiling faces, rendering their services-washing and dressing the wounds-always giving strict attention to the wants of the suffering. Such acts of benevolence will never grow dim in the minds of those upon whem they have bestowed their kindness. During the night it is impossible for the soldiers to receive that amount of care, necessary for their speedy recovery.

It is not possible that ten or twelve men can attend strictly to all the wants of two hundred sick men. The nurses, however, I must say, are deserving of great credit for their due attention to the wants of their suffering comrades, who, like themselves, have gone forth to the battle field leaving their wives, their homes, and everything sacred to them, to fight the battles of their Government. Now, a great many of these men have been wounded and are sent to a loyal city to recover their health, and are neglected by whom? by the young men of the city who have been requested to come and asset at night, but one of whom has responded to the request. I think, Messrs. Editors, that there is a careless negligence on the part of the young men, which ought | Eighth streets.

I cannot close my letter without speaking a word or two for our noble hearted surgeons, Doctors Pennington, Work and Duffield, either of whom will ever be remembered and loved by those who are under their care. Go through the wards at almost any hour, (nights not accepted) and you will find our worthy physicians locking after the comfort of the soldiers. Such unceasing devotion is winning for them laurels of glory never to be forgetten by the soldiers. Yours, J. D. ARMSTRONG.

It rarely happens that in our editorial capacity our readers find us premeditatedly and with malice aforethought engaged in puffing any patent medicine, but during our recent trip to the melancholy scenes of Pittsburg Landing there was one medicine which we found in the hands of nearly every soldier, giving relief wherever applied, whether internally or externally. We refer to Perry Davis' Vetetable Pain Killer. All spoke loud in its praise, and the kind hearted Surgeon of one of our Indiana regiments informed us that he believed it was the only thing that saved at least half of his regiment from of rainy days we have once more been fa- dying of dysentery during a recent long and pleasant atmosphere.
